WOODROW WILSON TO VISIT PENSACOLA AND SEE CARNIVAL TALENT

Will Arrive From Bermuda and Attend Show at Opera House.

GREAT SPEECH WILL BE FEATURE

President-Elect Gives Up All Plans to Attend Local Performance and Seeks Royalty So as to Be Present. Wants to See All Applicants for Federal Offices.

GOVERNOR WOODROW WILSON

BY SCOOPS O. MUDD.
(Special Correspondent the Booster.)
(Cardinal Special.)

Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 25.—Woodrow Wilson, who arrived here yesterday with Mrs. Wilson, will leave tomorrow for Pensacola, Florida, where he will attend the grand minstrel to be given by the Miller & Draper Imperial Theatrical Society of local talent at the head of the minstrel, in the opera house, Monday and Tuesday nights.

The president-elect of the United States was fettered out by your correspondent while shooting snickers with Will's Taft on a wharf just beyond the outside of the river.

"Well, Mudd—how are you?" said Woodie when the Booster's reporter surprised him in pecking a pot. The next president thought Willie a dime he had won, tossed him an extra quarter as compensation for the time he spent trying to get the best of him and then looked away with your correspondent's d. turned toward his bushy hair on the walk.

When the house was reached the next president discovered that King George, Abdul Hamid, Nick Carter and Tom Watson had been looking around the lawn in the hope of gaining audience with him for some time.

"With the lack of tact for which he is noted he called them up one by one, greeted each and wasted a minute chatting with him, after advising George against breaking away from his present policy of having nothing whatever to do with the government of Great Britain, he summoned the Sultan of Turkey. The damascene turned of course to his constituents in Europe and Woodie handed out a word of sympathy, desiring the trouble in the Balkans and telling they might be cheered greatly if he visited Pensacola on the nights of November 25 and 26 and heard some of the jokes about the him that will be passed out to the audience.

"You are mistaken in thinking there is any trouble in the Balkans," answered Abdul, in rotten English, "I assure you that hostilities are pretty well confined to Turkey."

The next president presented him with a little lot of Homer and dismissed him with the explanation that he had a distinguished visitor from Pensacola intimating that your correspondent with whom he must talk over an important matter. He meant the presentation of the minstrel show. He talked briefly to Carter, congratulating him upon his success as a great detective while he was at it, always with a view to exterminating the weekly readers of his exploits and advised him to call later and accept a

Dr. Cook Thornton and Capt. Peary Rommel

Who Was Real Discoverer of Correct Palfox Street Grade?

DEBATE QUESTION AT MINSTREL SHOW

Copenhagen Lee Will Act as Referee and Decide All Points of Law—Mayor Reilly Won't Call Council Meeting Except on One Condition—The Sidewalk Grades Are Safe.

It has been persistently rumored around Roch's and the Palace for two days that an effort will be made to reopen the controversy between Dr. Cook Thornton and Capt. Peary Rommel as to who discovered the correct grade in front of the Keyser building.

There is no intimation of any desire to interfere in any way with the sidewalk itself. All the interested parties to the rumor has it, disclaim any intention of accomplishing any practical result from reopening the discussion.

A reporter for the Booster was unable to confirm the rumor. None of the principals in the affair could be interviewed, but all were willing to deny the correctness of the report.

"Obviously," said Mr. Thornton, "cannot be true. The matter is settled. There is absolutely no reason to reopen it."

This statement, however, is not regarded seriously because, it will be remembered, there never was the slightest reason for any controversy originally.

It has leaked out around the city hall that the move comes from Mr. Stephen Copenhagen Lee.

Mr. Lee was the referee who was employed by the mayor to settle the matter and it is said he now desires to amend his report. He reported that there was nothing involved but a question of law, but as he hated to turn down a job he would not do so.

—which he did, much to the relief of John Jones.

Mr. Lee reported further that both Mr. Thornton and Mr. Rommel were good engineers. According to this city hall rumor he now wishes to add that he is a good engineer, too. Mr. Lee, however, says that this is not really true.

Any action upon the matter must be before a special meeting of the city council, and upon the strength of these rumors the management of the Carnival Minstrels is endeavoring to arrange for this meeting to be held on the stage during an intermission of the minstrel.

The management, however, scarcely hopes to be able to offer its patrons this new minstrel feature since it is feared that before this step is authorized it must be referred to the county judge, the bond trustees, the game warden, the mayor, the turnkey, the fire chief and the city attorney, and a special act gotten through the legislature amending the charter. In the event that this feature is put on, a cash prize of two dollars will be offered in a cockamamie match between Alderman F. Sophomore Renshaw and Alderman Always Talking Semmes.

Later, Mayor Reilly has declined positively to call a meeting unless Alderman Semmes agrees in writing to permit the object of the meeting to be stated before moving to adjourn. When this statement was shown to Mr. Semmes he refused to say anything because somebody might see him to prove it.

DR. BLOCKER WILL REVEAL DARK SECRET

MYSTERY OF GARDEN STREET FORTIFICATION WILL BE DIVULGED AT MINSTREL SHOW MONDAY NIGHT—DR. RENSHAW'S EXPLANATION NOT SATISFACTORY.

Dr. L. & M. Blocker will tell at the minstrel show the thing in Garden street is and why. Now for the love of Mike come and have your mind relieved.

Keyser will be there with her trumpets and a photograph. Of course, Keyser had it explained to him, and so did we all, by Dr. Renshaw in aesthetic and eulogistic description of this problematic municipal conspiracy (whatever all that is). But here the doctor will tell in his own sweet, little way how he did it, and the reason of it.

Of course you all appreciate its value and the absolute necessity of such a beautiful obstruction. The marvel is that we have all lived so long without it. Now we did it. God only knows (and how we will get rid of it God only knows).

Every now and then you hear some ignorant ass ask the question, "What is that thing that the doctor put in Garden street?"

Don't that make you tired? Of course you know what it is, but you simply ignore such an axiomatic question, pass it up and refer him to Dr. Renshaw. But here you will get the correct dose, right off the griddle from the perpetrator himself and is bound to interest you whether you need the information or not.

Why this is the thing that has been the subject of so much contemplation, commendation, condemnation and condemnation is bound to be and prove interesting and you just can't afford to miss it even if eggs are selling at thirty cents per dozen.

Big uniformed parade Monday noon. Don't miss seeing it.

FOUR UNITED STATES BATTLESHIPS COME TO PENSACOLA TO WITNESS THE GREAT CARNIVAL MINSTREL SHOW

TO OUR PATRONS

The officers and members of the Pensacola Carnival Association, the committees, the management of the minstrels and the publishers of The Booster, desire to thank most heartily, the business men and the public, for their most liberal patronage. We can point with pride to the galaxy of advertisers, whose advertisements appear in The Booster. They are living testimonials to the high position occupied by the Carnival in Pensacola, and we are overflowing with appreciation. These advertisers also show exceeding good judgment, for every line in The Booster will be read by everybody who sees one.

We also desire to express our appreciation of the courtesy extended by The Pensacola Journal in distributing our paper, as well as boosting our show in their own columns. To the Evening News we also extend our thanks. They did all we asked, and we are at their services.

CHALLENGE. And now that we have properly expressed our appreciation of the courtesies extended by these diminutive publications, we wish to state:

First—We have the largest circulation of any paper in the state of Florida.

Second—We challenge The Journal and the News to open their books to our inspection.

Third—If anyone or all of them combined have a general circulation to equal that of The Booster, we will give $100,000 to the greatest charitable organization in the city.

There is only one condition which we attach to this challenge: The editors of The Booster shall be the committee of award, and they shall examine the books.

THE BOOSTER AND THE CARNIVAL.
(Signed) The Management of the Minstrels.

COUNTY JAIL COMPLETED

WOMEN FAINT AND STRONG MEN GROW PALE WHEN COMMISSIONER JOHNSON MAKES UNEXPECTED ANNOUNCEMENT.

There was intense excitement on the street yesterday when it was made known that the County Jail had been completed.

Before the frenzied people could be calmed three women had fainted on Palafox street, and Nick Smith had run amok and trampled a cab horse to death. Judge Higgs was painfully but not seriously injured by Mike Monroe as he dashed out of the Palace Saloon.

A howling mob gathered in the plaza del Cabatand, and for a few moments it looked as though the two W. A. Blount (Chorus) Marching Clubs would have to be called out.

However, Colonel Ed Dittmar, mounted the iron dog in the Plaza and in a few original but intelligent remarks assuaged the excited people that the rumor was false, recalling to the minds even the riot of 1810 which was caused by exactly the same rumor.

The reporter for the Carnival Booster was allowed to enter, blindfolded the sacred halls of the "County Comptroller," where, in answer to the question, "Do you admit the County Jail is completed?" Commissioner Joseph Smith Johnson replied in part: (the prohibition of profane language is strictly prohibited by the State Statutes.)

"Yes, the jail is completed. Of course there are a few minor details yet to be carried out, such as the installation of the cells and cages, the lining of the roof, and shower bath."

City and Port Officials Accompany Booster Editor On Formal Call.

FLEET OFFICERS RETURN VISIT

Admiral Fletcher and Men Given Cordial Welcome to the Home of Priscus the Great, and the Carnival Minstrels—All Will Attend Show Monday and Tuesday.

Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, while in conference with the Booster editor immediately after his arrival, said in brief:

"This minstrel that the Carnival Association will give Monday and Tuesday nights will, I understand, be one of the most colorful and magnificent offerings of wit and theatrical talent ever attempted in our country, and I just couldn't afford to have my men miss it. Besides, I must confess that there was also a selfish motive in my request to Washington for permission to make this trip, as it rather expensive, but I just couldn't afford to pass it up."

The editor of the Booster, accompanied by the josh him mayor and the royal chamberlain of Priscus, the great King of Pensacola Carnival Minstrel, paid an official visit to Admiral Fletcher, which was returned the following morning, and the foregoing expression by the Admiral is published without his knowledge or consent. In fact, he may not have said it at all, but we hope he will stand for it.

HOW WILLIE FAILED US. When the editor-in-chief approached Mr. Arthur Brisbane Blount, Jr., several days ago and requested the assistance of his fertile mind in preparing an article for the Booster, he realized that he would be compromising his paper, but proffered the request merely as a courtesy.

He realized that Willie possessed a very strong indigestion to work or anything that resembled it, and was thus unable to do the job and had consented to take on the job and land a helping hand.

When the editor of the Booster called Willie up last night before about 7 o'clock, to learn what progress he was making on his article, he was informed that it was progressing nicely, but Mr. Blount couldn't be found yesterday at all.

"We don't know why the article was deserted. The 'Pink Lady' was in town Friday night. Of course, this has no connection with the foregoing, but is simply mentioned as a matter of public interest."

THE WISE MAN.

There was a man who had lived his day.
And achieved success in a worldly way.
He had striven for wealth; he had saved for future.
In the battle of life a tollsome game:
Poor Man!

There was once a man who had reached the heights.
Far beyond his wildest fancy flight:
Ankles-driven, his back had creased
The sorrowful sea, dark, tempest-tossed:
Poor Man!

There was once a world that had watched a man
Rise to his wearisome upward path began;
Meekly opposed every inch of the subtracted his road, and rejoiced to say:
Poor Man!

“Twas a bitter world that beheld this man
Who had fairly thwarted its selfish plan.
Who had sturdily fought and won his spurs,
With never a thought for the howling curs;
Yet the world extended a cordial hand,
More than, as ever, just after the band.
Good Man!

There was once a man who stood looking behind,
And saw not a soul that ever was kind;
He remembered long hours and midnight oil,
Those sleepless nights with their arduous toil,
He sickened to hear the cheers of the mob,
His worn heart froze in the midst of a throb:
Wise Man!

WANTED—A job—Nothing but snags to be presented! I am used to no other kind. F. F. McGourin.

PRAYER.

(From de Musset).
Peppita, when the shadows steal
And when the last good-night is said,
As thou beneath thy lamp dost kneel
Praying to God beside thy bed.

At this hour when the soul afraid,
Resigns itself to Higher care—
After a thorough search is made
Beneath the bed, lest thieves be there—

When sleep hath closed her wings divine
Upon the troubles of the day—
Pray, little love mine,
What are thy thoughts as thou dost pray?

Who knows? Perhaps of one who moved
Within the covers of a book,
Passing from her who wept and loved
To him who loved and swore and took.

Perhaps of mountains and a plain,
Beneath the sun’s eternal smile;
Or of a castle, still in Spain;
Of bonbons, or a husband’s guile;

Perhaps of some one else’s fault;
Of whispers with a whisper brought;
Of dreams, of the latest waltz;
Perhaps of me—perhaps of naught:
—H. Bedford-Jones.

Hilton-Green—“Why, no, no, I haven’t the slightest idea. Why?”
Wilmer Hayward—“Simply because they want to get off.”
(Well Wilmer had to walk the rest of the way home.)

Making It Easier.

“George Ding-doh, isn’t this the ninth time you have asked me to marry you?”
“Very likely, Laura. And, say, why can’t we have an understanding in the matter—a division of labor, as it were? I’ll do the asking, and you keep on—”

“Oh, but I charge you twenty cents already, yet?”
“Why, what for?”

The Man Who Is Ahead

In almost every newspaper you pick up you are pretty sure to find a lot of gush about the man behind the counter and the man behind the gun; the man behind the saw and the man behind the time; the man behind his rent; the man behind the plowshare and the man behind the fence; the man behind the whistle and the man behind the cars; the man behind the kodak and the man behind the bars; the man behind his whiskers and the man behind his fist; and everything is entered on the list. But they've shipped another fellow who is even, or a little way ahead; who pays for what he purchases, whose bills are always signed. He's a blamed sight more important than the man who is behind. All the creditors and merchants, and the whole commercial class, are indebted for existence to this honest fellow-man. He keeps us all in business and his town is never dead, and so we take our hats off to the man who is ahead.—This was too good to lose, but the author is not known to the booster.

The Rummy Rubaiyat

To Duck Baars, Peacefully Sleeping in the Pool Room.
At 11 O'Clock on Sunday Morning.

With Apologies to Omar Khayyam.

Wake! for the sons who scattered into flight,
The solo artists in the game last night.
Return again from mighty escapades
And bid you join them in another fight!

Before the echoes of his snoring died,
He thought a voice within the pool room cried—
"When all the fall-guys corralled have been,
Why nods the drowsy Mister Baars inside."

And Duckie, rising, rubbed his eyes and said,
"I thought myself alone and all you Hall-rooms fled.
What frame-up's this at such unholy hour,
That makes me wake and leave my settee-bed?"

Dr. Quina answers in a deep-voiced, rumbling basso:

"Ah, Duckie, dear, could you and I conspire,
To grasp the complex solo scheme entire
Would not we shatter opposition bit by bit—
And then remould it nearer to our heart's desire?"

"'Tis but a game from inside your vest
You take an ace, and, being trumps, 'tis blest
Of all the powers of its high estate
To take the trick and win from all the rest."

"You smiling coon that serves the drinks again,
How oft hereafter will he serve in vain!
How oft hereafter, serving, look for us,
In this same card-room—and for one in vain!"

"And when like him, O Duckie, you shall pass
Among the experts who have reached your class
And in your joyous errand reach the spot
Where we have won—turn down an empty glass."

THIS IS LEAP YEAR—YET

For the Benefit of the Many Single Ladies Known to the Editors.

To save any further confusion and heart-burnings, the editorial staff of the Booster desires to state to the ladies of the chorus that they are all married. This is a sad blow to the hopes of some of the girls we know, but it cannot be helped. Applying the old adage, however, that it is better to have loved and lost than to have married young, we publish the following:

Counting, nowadays, may be summed up in a question mark, a dollar mark and a period.
Many an hour has been brightened
ignorance is also it is folly to confess.

A girl after thirty is not so conscious about the "atop, look and listen" sign as she crosses the road to mari-riage.

When a woman casts her eyes down
she has a man in view.
Love is the germ that produces near-sightedness.

Many an hour has been brightened
by a dim light.
He who hesitates is doomed.
Many a girl has felt like crying out to her chaperon, that she did not want to be saved all the time.

A bevy of chorus chickens who will undoubtedly fill the bald head rows.

war news to his wife)—I see the Bul-

Crossed Fingers

(Dedicated to A. M. Avery, Jr.)
He swore that her kiss was the first he had had;
But his fingers were crossed;
He'd kissed but his mother when he was a lad—
Yes, his fingers were crossed:

He vowed that not only he'd never had a taste
Of quivering lips, but that no other waist
Had ever been clasped in his arms.
Then in haste,
His fingers were crossed:

She listened to all the guff he had said
While his fingers were crossed;
She laid on his bosom her wise little head,
While his fingers were crossed.

She answered so low that the famed
"little bird"
Who peddles sweet secrets could scarcely be heard,
And she breathed: "Oh, my love, I
But her fingers were crossed:

INITIATION CAUSED DEATH

USE OF ELECTRIC BATTERY BY MOOSE ORDER PROVES FATAL TO NEW MEMBER, WHO HAD A WEAK HEART.

Cumberland, Md., Nov. 21.—The authorities are investigating the death of Zedock Tronel, 22 years old, son of Isaac H. Tronel, member of the school board of Koger, W. Va., which occurred during initiation into the Loyal Order of Moose, at Western-port, this county, late last night.
While members of the organization are reticent, it is stated death occurred suddenly during "horse play" in the initiation when an electric battery was used, that the candidate was in the process of being "branded" on the chest when he expired from excitement, having suffered from a weak heart.

State's Attorney Frank A. Perdue, who returned this evening from West-ernport, says there are no marks on Tronel's body to indicate that he was "electrocuted," as was first reported, and that the machine used to produce the electric current contained a dry battery, and the shock was caused by turning a little crank. This produced a sensation that might be terrifying to a heartless candidate, but in reality caused no physical harm.

The Bachelor's Psalm of Life

As sung by our Apollo quartette, composed of Clarke Porter, Mansfield Moreno, Albert Avery, Tino Brent, and a few others.

Lives of married men remind me—
We, who have not yet been caught—
We should leave some some behind us,
But we think we'd rather not.
She that's thin may be a fat one—
She that's sweet some day grow grim,
And with looks of hate and hardness
Squelch the very soul of him.

Let us then go billing—cooing,
For the maidens sweet and fair,
For 'tis lovely to go wooing,
But the wise man stops right there.

THE NEW TOURING RULES.

1. On discovering an approaching team, the automobilist must stop off-side and cover his machine with a tarpsaulin painted to correspond with the scenery.
2. The speed limit on country roads this year will be a secret, and the penalty for violation will be $10 for every mile an offender is caught going in excess of it.

3. In case an automobilist makes a team run away the penalty will be $50 for the first mile, $100 for the second mile, $200 for the third mile that the team runs, besides the usual damage.

4. On approaching a corner where he cannot command a view of the road ahead, the automobilist must stop not less than 100 yards from the turn, rest his horn, ring a bell, fire a revolver, halloo, and send up three bobs at intervals of five minutes.

5. Automobiles must be seasonably maintained—that is, so they will merge with the pastoral ensemble, and not be startling. They must be green in spring, golden in summer, red in autumn and white in winter.

6. Automobiles running on the country roads at night must send up a red rocket every mile and wait ten minutes for the road to clear. They may then proceed carefully, blowing their horns and shooting Roman candles.

7. In case a horse will not pass an automobile, notwithstanding the scenically tarpsaulin, the automobilist will take the machine apart as rapidly as possible and conceal the parts in the grass.

8. In case an automobile approaches a farmer's house when the roads are dusty, it will slow down to one mile an hour, and the chauffeur will lay the dust in front of the house, with a hand-sprinkler worked over the dashboard.

Almost Ready.

ter?"

consider all right. You have a dab of powder on each ear, but none on the tip of your nose."—Kansas City Journal.

JOHNSON, JR., PUTS
A RIGHT TO THE JAWGovernor's Ben Knocks Out Bully
With One Good Punch in San Francisco—Is Skilled As Boxer.

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—Hiram W. Johnson, Jr., son of California's progressive governor, is known as "Jack" Johnson among his friends because of his ability as a boxer. This stood him in good stead last night when James Reed, a husky young fellow from Monterey, layed with bones, picked a quarrel with him in the San Francisco Hotel bar room.

The Monterey youth expected to Johnson's natty chest suit with a red rose in the buttonhole, and made complimentary remarks about the costume, and about the fact that young Johnson was drinking mineral water. Johnson told him he ought to be a state about making remarks, whereupon the Monterey man kicked Johnson above the knee. The governor's son landed one right-hand wallop on the chin and the man was out. After being rebuffed he was bounced from the wine room.

Such a statement sounds almost visionary.

SEEKERS OF

LONDONERS WILL NO LONGER BE AMUSED BY MOVING
ORDER.

London, Nov. 23.—From now on Londoners who wish to see the "moving picture" must go to the theaters. These scenes will be depicted no longer in the picture shows.

This announcement along with other prohibitions heralds the return of A. M. Avery & Son, the proprietor of public scenes of plays. Mr. Redford attracted much criticism and was frequently charged with inconsistency. This criticism is said to have influenced his resignation.

The same charge is made concerning his recently issued edict concerning picture prohibitions. In particular his prohibition of picture shows permits his hitherto to appear on the beach in costumes which would cause the immediate arrest of their wearers in any part of the United States. Mr. Redford's decision probably would be that he has no control over the bathers themselves.

Viewed With Apprehension.
American and Colonial film producers, particularly the American, whose methods are far superior to the English, view the new censorship with some apprehension. For Mr. Redford received his appointment from the representative society of English film producers. And while this is a private organization, he will have practically the authority of a cabinet official for he will work in cooperation with the London council, which has the power to cancel the license of any picture theatre on a complaint which, in the opinion of the council, is sufficiently grave. The only arbitrary power left to the English throne is this exercised through the lord chamberlain of prohibiting dramatic performance which does not meet with his approval.

Under the head of compromising live situations the Standard film producers, who make a specialty of the garden variety of burlesque plays, will suffer while the English makers will not escape unless favoritism is shown them. Prize fights, dog fights and "mixed bathing" are lumped together in the list, and since the first are no longer popular, the only reason for the Australian government authorities, who are fond of showing the salubrious of the antipodean climate by exhibiting films of Australian beaches.

Old Tomb Found.
Reports have reached here of the discovery near Luxor, Egypt, of a tomb which contained one of the most valuable collections of predynastic ornaments and ornaments ever found. The tomb contained the dried-up remains of a man lying in the semi-embryonic position.

As the Neolithic Egyptians did not maintain their dead the body was nearly crumbled up from the weight of a stone slab which had been dislodged from its position on the covering of the tomb. With the body were found a unique double-headed bronze sword and a bronze dagger, and a lot of the well-known predynastic pottery.

The tomb was probably that of one of the warriors of the first dynasty, during which period the use of bronze was discovered in Upper Egypt. According to this theory the body is about 6,000 years old.

The Mailed Fist.
Lord Kitchener does not always use the mailed fist in ruling the Orient, and that he has learned some of the native craft was shown by the way in which he prevented the Egyptian Bedouins from joining their brethren in Tripoli.

The Egyptian Bedouin is not compelled to pay taxes or to render ordinary obligations of citizenship, which in Egypt includes military service. Shortly after the outbreak of the war between Turkey and Italy, a delegation of Bedouins approached General Kitchener and told him that they wanted to go across the border to the assistance of their hard pressed fellows in Tripoli. The British general admitted with unexpected readiness that their request was reasonable, but he reminded them that by granting it, he would be creating a precedent which would make them liable for military service with the Egyptian army. The delegation withdrew and Kitchener was not troubled any more with requests to leave to cross the border.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS
DEATH OF JOHN KING

Georgia Man Supposed to Have Been Killed As a Result Over Fight in Card Game—His Body Cremated.

Jonesboro, Ga., Nov. 23.—Efforts to solve the mystery surrounding the murder of John King, 23 years old, whose burned and charred body was found yesterday in the debris of a burned frame building in the rear of the Hebrew Primitive Baptist church, near here, assumed active form today.

Two long sessions of the coroner's jury were held behind closed doors. Many witnesses were examined, but neither the coroner nor any of the six members of the jury would indicate tonight that any of the evidence received. The police are still working on the theory that King was murdered as the sequel to a quarrel that arose in connection with a card party in a building near the church and the structure was then fired in the hope that the dead body would be consumed. It is believed that it may be impossible to tell whether the man first met with foul play before his body was burned, on account of the badly cremated condition.

Will Edwards, Will Lee, B. E. Lee and Walter Henderson are being held in jail on a charge of suspicion pending the coroner's jury verdict. All deny any knowledge of the death. The two Lees are brothers.

The murdered man was married and has two young children.

WEEKLY HEALTH HINTS

By Dr. Aristide Pille, A. M., M. D., L. L. D., Editor Health Department of The Booster.

"We will gladly answer all questions pertaining to health. While we prefer to give of our modest store of knowledge of hygiene and sanitation, we will not, like our esteemed confreres of the Chicago Tribune, refuse to prescribe for our clients. We are not so luxurious for dollars as to compel the suffering to come to our office to get the finish—of our advice and counsel. We hope that our readers will freely question us on all subjects pertaining to health."

"Con brother, Deriv. Press (Dr. brother) and Con. (B.)

Dear Dr. Pille: I am in a quandary.

Answer—We also are in a quandary. One of our professional friends, the celebrated Dr. A. Schmele, claims that one cannot bathe and be healthy. He seems to keep another. Other authorities hold that the daily bath is essential. Others accept this view with the reservation that the bath should be taken internally. A number of our members use a tub of soda in this way every few hours and seem to thrive on it. Personally, we hold the view that devoutness and patriotism are a general bath every Christmas and Fourth of July. The Christmas bath may be dispensed with by persons whose contributions are too delicate to tolerate a general washing of the body in winter. After all, the matter of bathing is largely a matter of geography, taste and economics. As you live in Mobile, what's the use?

Dear, Dear Dr. Pille:
My husband has delirium tremens!

Speaking of poets, that fellow over yonder is evidently a poet!

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 23.—Fred W. Stanton, a socialist of Girard, will cast the deciding vote in the Kansas senate during the next four years on legislation in which the republicans and democrats oppose each other with their full party strength.

Stanton was successful at the recent election.

Answer—There used to be something in low powders, but the pure food and drug laws have put the manufacturers out of business and there's nothing in them any more. I would advise trying a tin can to him and telling him to take a little rapid exercise. The celebrated Dr. A. Gunn had a powder that was quite effective, but the law has put that out of business also. If you can find the right subject a little acid water properly applied, or sudden removal of hair may relieve your feelings some.

Heart and Home Problems

By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young insurance man. I am six feet two and a half inches tall and have light hair and brown eyes. Am I good looking?

Yes. That's why the girls all love you so.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) What do you think is the best kind of work for a young man who doesn't like it? (2) I can play football, dance and drive an automobile. Am I accomplished?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I hear, my friend, that you are not looking for work. What you want is a position. (2) Yes, very.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young lawyer, just starting out. I recently had a case—my first. It wasn't much of a case and the evidence was all against me but don't you think that as it was my first case, the jury might have given a verdict in my favor?

I certainly do but this is a hard world and we must all have our knocks. He leaves and keep on and you will win a case yet.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Some time ago I was persuaded to wear ruffled union suits during the summer. Is it proper that I wear them throughout the winter? Also what color will be worn this winter.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have loved a great many girls and they have seemed to love me but they all marry some one else. What shall I do?

My poor boy, you were evidently hog under an unlucky star, but keep on; you are getting good practice, and some day you may be able to fool one.

and spent ten minutes writing up his little address.

Without a word the manuscript was handed over. Woodie studied quite a while on the first page then called a stenographer.

"Please take dictation of this from Mr. Woodie," he requested, smiling broadly. "I can't read this copy; it is very miserable."

The little address was soon reduced to readable shape and related to him. "De-lighted," he exclaimed, when he had finished reading it. That would not compromise you in the least, and you may return and publish it in advance if you wish—only put on an inner page, please, as you know I dislike publicity."

As it is a full and complete scoop on the Christian Science Monitor, The Ladies Home Journal and Life it is here given in full:

"Mr. Interlocutor, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"It would be useless for me to begin by saying I am pleased to be here and to greet you representative people of Pensacola tonight."

"You will hear enough state jokes from the gentlemen around me to needlessly listen to any from me. (Applause.)"

"There are a few things which I would like to suggest here before you, however, and I sincerely hope they may warrant your consideration."

"I will speak first of the need of Pensacola, which is a city chiefly noted as the headquarters of the L. & N. Railroad, the home of F. F. Bingham and the best, and until lately, most neglected seaport in the South."

"I would urge you, as a means of stimulating interest in your city, to secure a first-class commercial secretary and make him the head of an active organization which you might well build up. Having suggested that, I will also suggest the man you need. His name is Henderson, Leland J. and he is at present secretary of the Mississippi to Atlantic Island Waterways League and is understood to be trying to elect himself to a similar position in an enormous order known as the West Florida Chamber of Commerce."

"You should be able to get Mr. Henderson at about ten thousand dollars a year, and while this seems like a whole lot of money, I get little more than that for making Princeton a rich man's school and the history of my successful efforts to do that were recently detailed to you by Mr. William H. Hodges, who once ran for Governor of Florida on the new retrogressive party."

"You should also have here a sleep condensing apparatus. It is one of the useful and indispensable bits of mechanism adding to the high cost of living, and the general progress of the race and may also add greatly to the tariff bill as it gives a man eight hour's sleep in two and thus adds to the possibilities of making more money or protesting against making it."

"It is sorely needed by several of your progressive men and among them I might mention George H. Hervey, who has something to do with a large hotel when not engaged as a drummer for the Commercial Association and press agent for the Carnival Committee."

"It might also be used to advantage by Frank L. Mayes, who is a local candidate for president on the Bull Moose ticket, might also find this useful, for he had more time he might get a few votes at Armageddon in four years."

"And as, fellow and gentlemen, I might go on indefinitely with the sleep condenser is something you all need, but I have only a few with me and while they last—first come, first served—I will sell them to you here at the reduced price of four dollars and ninety-eight cents. Now, while they're here and while they last—who is the first."

"Ah, Major Felt; thank you—And you, Colonel Mayes, I knew you wanted a sleep-condenser—Mr. Hervey, no—Oh! you don't sleep—well, I beg to say, they come to me without urging—And Dr. Hodges—that's right air. Only four more left—but wait, I'll be back in four years and you can try them again."

"Thank you for our kind attention."

'Oh, you can try the beautiful girl cried and, rising and passing round the table, she kissed her husband lightly on his bald head. The country's going to the dogs. Up goes the cost of living. Not one of us can even buy a turkey for Thanksgiving. We'll have to leave the butter off. And eat our bread without it. And learn to dress in overalls. And for while were out at it. We'll all go broke, the banks will burst.

Seeking for Time.

A Richmond dandy called upon an old friend, who received him in a rocking chair in a room which he observed not only that his host did not rise, but that he continued to rock himself to and fro in a most curious way, similar to that of a person suffering from colic.

"You ain't sick, is ye?" Harries?" asked the caller anxiously.

"No, I ain't sick, Mose," said Harries. "A moment's silence during which the caller gazed wide-eyed at the rocking chair."

"Den," continued Mose, "why in goodness does you rock yerself dat way all de time?"

Harries pounced not in his exclamation as he explained:

"'Ye know dat good-for-nothin' Bill Bott? Well, he done sold me a silver watch for five dollars, an' ef I stop watch like dis, dat watch don't stop."—Lippincott's.

The Pensacola Mardi Gras Carnival Celebration.

This Carnival Booster Edition is in addition to the great Carnival Minstrel show which will be seen at the opera house Monday and Tuesday night, Nov. 25 and 26.

The Carnival Minstrel is put on to help raise money and to arouse local enthusiasm for the Pensacola Mardi Gras celebration which occurs February 10 and 11, next.

For years Pensacola has been noted for her annual Mardi Gras celebration.

For years the name of Pensacola has appeared in the railroad advertisements, not only in the South, but throughout the North and East as one of the Gulf cities for which special Mardi Gras excursion rates were made.

For years Pensacola has not only kept her own people and her own money at home for the Mardi Gras celebration, but she has on each occasion entertained thousands of visitors from abroad and the money has been left here to help stimulate home trade and industry.

Mardi Gras is now a permanent institution in Pensacola and very profitable one too. But if it has been profitable in the past, it should and will be much more profitable in the future.

We shall have two railroads, instead of one as heretofore, bringing Mardi Gras visitors to Pensacola this year.

We shall have city improvements to show them this year that our guests have never seen here before.

We shall have the latest street pavement in the history of Mardi Gras parades next February and we now invite and expect the largest gathering of guests from this and other states that has ever been entertained at one time in the Deep Water City.

Something About The Carnival Minstrels.

The matter of promoting amateur entertainments is something about for very many people know about. For years in the past some little lady with a knowledge of music who, through family reverses has been thrown on her own resources, would come late to the stage manager "warning" for the curtain. Nine times out of ten she wouldn't know the "O. P." side from the "Promenade" side of the stage. Both the musical director and the stage crew would have to guess at what she meant.

She would use a lot of little children, ranging in ages from "craw" in arms to eighteen years old, figuring that the more she used the more people she would interest in the entertainment.

They used them like puppets, waving the American flag, and get away with it. But all this is now changed. People are getting wiser.

There are today five firms in the business of promoting amateur entertainments, who have as much money invested in an equipment of scenery, electrical effects, costumes, etc., as most of the very best professional attractions that travel.

Most of these firms maintain offices in New York city twelve months in the year, and have built up just as strong a connection with the publishers and big producers, and the largest booking offices, as any of the big professional producers have.

The oldest and best known of these firms, and considered by professional people the most important, is the firm of Miller & Draper, of New York city, who have in charge the Carnival Minstrel, this year. There is no professional minstrel show on the road that carries any better equipment, or that has as good a frame-up, as that carried by this firm.

It is not generally known, but it is a fact, nevertheless, that all professional minstrel shows are tied up with an arrangement with only one packing firm in this manner. The publishing house furnishes them their scenery and most of their costumes free, in consideration of which the minstrel show guarantees to use no music in their show that is not published by the firm.

The firm of Miller & Draper, however, have kept free of entanglements of this sort, for obvious reasons, and therefore they have the opportunity of using the best numbers of all the publishers.

The acts used in this production are all strictly vaudeville acts, which are headliners on the big vaudeville circuits of the East, and every one of them has "the pit."

The firm of Miller & Draper for this season, by arrangements with the Eastern Exposition Company, are showing in their first part a bird's-eye view, taken from the drawings furnished by the architect, of the entire site and its surroundings of the exposition grounds, and they also have a beautiful net showing the east coast of the grand court of honor. For this, they have been officially recognized and thanked by the architect of exploitation of the exposition, John Brisson Walker.

Mr. Draper has spent his life in the business of the theatre. He is a ballet master by profession, graduate of the College of Dancing of Odesa, Russia, and is very well known as a writer of vaudeville acts, and a promoter of "musicals." He is probably known to more Elks throughout the country than any other man in the country, from the fact that his production is used by Elks lodges almost exclusively.

Mr. Draper is a comedian and dancer of note, and has been with the Haverley, and with the old Elks West Minstrel. As a musical stage director, his reputation is of the best.

To show the reputation that this firm enjoys, it may be well to say that their season until the first of June is very nearly completely booked, all of their contracts being with Elks lodges. They make fifty productions a year, and keep three directors busy besides themselves. They showed for the Elks in Alexandria, La., Nov. 18th and 19th, for the Elks in Lake Charles, La., Nov. 21st and 22nd, here for the Carnival Association Nov. 25th and 26th, they will be in Eufrasia, Ala., Nov. 28th and 29th, in Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 5th and 6th, and in this way they are booked throughout the entire season, closing their season in Cleveland, Ohio, for the Elks.

The public can rest assured that this show, with the best talent in the city taking part.

ooting of steamboats for his annual visit to his loyal subjects.

One of the important social events of the past week was the drive that two of our most prominent young society men almost enjoyed having with Miss Maude Adams. Unfortunately one of the gentlemen did not meet sufficiently drowsy for the occasion and as the time was too short to permit of his making a toilet the date had to be called off. It is no bad that Miss Adams should have been deprived of this pleasure and it is hoped that she should decide to again favor our city with her presence, that he will make an early start with his preparations and be a credit to us all.

The battleships are once more in our midst, lying at rest like great sea ruhl on the sparkling waters of our beautiful Pensacola bay (21.1.2 feet of water on the bar and the deepest port of Newport News.)

The brass bands and the gold lace of the gallant officers are dazzling the eyes and thrilling the hearts of many a fair young maid, and were the truth but known many of these warriors bold who have courageously faced the storm of battle are suffering and being taken captive by our brown-eyed beauties who have been the inspiration for many of the verses of Mr. N. Y. Floyd and other West Florida poets.

That Pensacola girls are noted for their graceful dancing is known far and wide. Until very recently the secret of this poetry of motion had never been known. Now by the aid of the secret service all is discovered. If on a certain day of the week and at a certain hour you should be passing the San Carlos auditorium you would hear sweet strains of music, and had you the courage to peep in all mystery would be cleared away. There you would see the class in aesthetic dancing gracefully gliding through some tetrachorean measure.

If there are any who have not joined this dainty band, who hold back because of their aversion, we say to them delay no longer. Neither would the thin one hesitate for the capable and accomplished teacher has promised to make the fat ones thin and the thin ones fat and add to the grace of all.

Locating Himself.

A small boy with a rather lost and lonesome appearance walked into the clerk's office at the course house. He gazed about him for a time and finally approached Deputy Henry Smiley, says the Deaver Times.

"Please, sir," he said timidly "have you seen anything of a lady around here?"

"Why, yes, sonny," answered Smiley. "I've seen several."

"Well, have you seen any without a little boy?" the lad asked anxiously. "Yes," replied Smiley.

"Well, said the little chap, as a relieved look crossed his face, "I'm the little boy. Where's the lady?"
