The Tip-Off

BY EMORY O. JACKSON

This output today is merely an anti-play to use baseball practice. For it picks up on some material written by Max K. Gillstrap, feature writer for The Christian Science Monitor, who is doing a series of articles on desegregation following the May 31 pronouncement by the United States Supreme Court which kicked out the obsolete and mythical "Separate but Equal" doctrine.

It is a Gillstrap production by a consideration of questions as to answers on the meeting of the decision as prepared by Prof. Robert A. Leflar of New York University for Southern School News. Here they are:

"Q. To what extent is the decision binding on school districts other than the five which are parties to the decision?"
"A. Only as the decision is the law of the land." Separate new proceedings will have to be brought against each nonparty district.

"Q. Does the Supreme Court decision apply only to grade schools and high schools?"
"A. No. It applies to all state-supported educational institutions. This would include state universities, colleges, junior colleges, trade and vocational schools, specialized schools such as those for the deaf, blind and blind, etc."

"Q. Does the Supreme Court decision have an application to private schools?"
"A. No. Except as private schools may be actually sponsored by the state, thus constituting an evasive form of state schools rather than being truly private schools. But state law requiring segregation in private schools is clearly unconstitutional."

"Q. If a school district is ready to integrate, what is the next step?"
"A. The district should file a plan with the state for the next school year."

"Q. If a school district is ready and willing to desegregate but is deterred by state law or pressure from outside the district, what is its legal position?"
"A. No state law requiring or permitting segregation in public schools is now valid. The Supreme Court is specific about that. The school district may disregard such unconstitutional state laws. No further legal proceedings are necessary to establish that. As to outside pressures, they may affect public funds available for school purposes."

"Q. What is the legal position of a school district which does not want to desegregate?"
"A. It has the legal power, by ignoring the decision, to delay desegregation until it is forced by legal proceedings to comply with the law."
"Q. To what extent is a local school board constrained by state policy, by state boards or state administrative agencies?"
"A. This depends upon the law of the particular state and the degree of administrative independence vested by state law in local boards. It remains true, however, that any administrative requirement that segregation be maintained or any rule or regulation which is designed even indirectly to maintain segregation is itself unconstitutional."

These Six Tips May Help You To Enjoy Holiday Without Tragedy

1. During the holiday, drive about 100 miles per hour below your normal speed. High speed gives you less time to react in an emergency and you are more likely to be killed or badly hurt if you do have an accident.
2. Start in plenty of time so you won't have to hurry to reach your destination.
3. Stay alert. Don't let distractions take your mind off the serious business of driving.
4. Don't compete with the other fellow. Let him have the right-of-way.
5. Pass other cars one at a time, and be sure you have a clear margin of safety. Don't change lanes without looking, and leave plenty of room between you and the car ahead.
6. Slow down at sundown so you can stop in the range of your head light. Avoid driving when sleepy or overtired.

MAACP Sets Goal Of 3 Million Voters in South By '56 Election

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (INS)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People set a goal of 3,000,000 Negro voters in the South by the 1956 national election.

MAACP Members and Goals

The action was taken in a resolution on registration and voter approval by 800 delegates at the NAACP's 46th annual convention in Atlantic City. The resolution noted that failure to get favorable action on Civil Rights and other programs supported by the organization is due in part to the failure of citizens to qualify and vote.

MAACP Members and Goals

Victories and setbacks which are the law of the land. "I expect we will see a lot of progress in the next few years," he said. "I am going to get my citizens in an uproar," Folsom said, adding "I find them (Negroes) to be good citizens."

MAACP Members and Goals

The NAACP also resolved to formulate and direct a broad non-partisan political action campaign on national and local levels to elect and electing members to the Congress and state, county and local candidates to promote more intelligent use of the ballot. "The organization charged there is mounting evidence that Northern and Western members of the Congress are betraying the Civil Rights program by surrendering eligibility to Southern forces."

GREENSBORO, N. C. - The person who has hosted hundreds of banquets and luncheons at A. & T. College was last Thursday (June 16), a guest at one of them.

Directing food services to the largest number of students served daily at any Negro college, in a job where in most cases complaints are plentiful, Mrs. Watkins received praise instead. A. & T. College students loved her.

"She assumed the difficult task in our easiest and difficult days," said Dr. Blufford, "when our facilities were inadequate and our food body was increasing by leaps and bounds. She performed well, often beyond the call of duty."

Portland Denomination Drops Color Line

PORTLAND ORE. - (AP) - The American Lutheran church denomination here has dropped the color line in worship in churches under its jurisdiction in this area.

Dr. S. C. Sierkes, president of the Northwestern district announced recently that the denomination as closed the all-Negro Bethsaida Lutheran church. He said that the membership of the church will be absorbed by other Lutheran churches throughout the city which have invited Bethesda members to join with them.

"It is the first time I have ever dissolved a congregation," Dr. Sierkes declared, "and I feel it is a victory rather than a defeat."

Meanwhile Edwin C. Berry, an Urban League executive, has written Dr. Sierkes commending his organization for its democratic and Christian views.

"Your action is in keeping with the best principles of brotherhood and good human relations," Berry wrote, "and a step toward the One America—undivided by such artificial considerations as race and national background—for which such organizations as the Urban League are working, and which we hope to see epitomized in our community."

The complaint charges that no Negroes were shown these organizations have ever been controlled or hired as dining car stewards, although whites with no experience had been hired directly into that position.

Atlanta Life Insurance Company Reports More Than 3 Million Dollars Invested in Homes & Housing Projects

Norris B. Herndon, President and treasurer of Atlanta Life Insurance Company, thrilled the stockholders with his report of progress made by the Company. The recent meeting of the stockholders in Atlanta, Georgia was the sixth annual meeting since the Company's 75th anniversary in 1930.

This project was financed by the Atlanta Life Insurance Company.

Out in Houston, Texas, another great minister, Rev. J. B. Stamps, has undertaken to build a great Texas and Housing Project, now being an investment of $200,000,000 by the Atlanta Life Insurance Company.

Noted Diplomat Sees No Need To Make Apologies

SAN FRANCISCO—(ANP)—On this the United Nation's 10th anniversary, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, UN's undersecretary general, says "no need to make apologies" for the peace organization or to be defensive about it.

"I am quite certain," Dr. Bunche said in an interview last week, "that people the world over would be in far worse straits than they are now had there been no UN in these dangerous past war years."

The distinguished Nobel Peace Prize winner believes the United Nations, "in the nature of things, have heavily on patience, faith and optimism. It knows that peace-loving nations and people can neither be quickly closed, nor has faith in man's ultimate ability to apply reason and morality to his relations and problems."

"It operates on the assumption, which I believe is not too optimistic, that no international problem need be regarded as insoluble, given only by the necessary minimum of good will and good faith."

CIVILIZATION BEST HOPE ON UN

"But," Dr. Bunche continued, "the United Nations also know—and particularly so in the sharply divided world of today—that this minimum essential is too often lacking. In these past war circumstances, the UN has had to concentrate, therefore, on trying to maintain a decidedly uneasy peace by preventing recourse to force to settle differences—events where there may have appeared to be little immediate hope for making headway toward remedying the difficulty."

The eminent UN peace negotiator added that the United Nations "seeks always to improve the international situation by the use of persuasion, mediation, conciliation, arbitration, and other peaceful means."

The UN's 10th anniversary was celebrated in San Francisco, California, with a series of events. The United Nations Secretariat Building was illuminated in blue and white, the colors of the UN flag.

MOORE MEETS THE PRESS—At Sullivan's gym in New York, where he has been trying to pare away 27 pounds for his title match, against middleweight king Bobo Olson on June 22, light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore met the press immediately after winning the match. Moore told reporters that he was having a "hard time" fitting out of the weight, and argued that he should be adding pounds, instead, to challenge heavyweight titleholder, Rocky Marciano. So far, Rocky's not having any. (Newspress Photo)

Evangelist Handles Race Bias in Norfolk, Virginia

NORFOLK, Va.—(ANP)—Used by the apostles and early church leaders. Much of her work is by personal contacts and through individual efforts. Following the technique and program of Christ in Jerusalem, Judea and other parts of the Holy Land, Evangelist Howe carries the messages of the Bible to people wherever she finds them—at work, at home or in life's streets.

For two weeks Evangelist Howe spoke nightly at Bethel Temple of which the Rev. Vilma Smith is minister. During her visit to the seashore city, the evangelist was heard by many members of the white congregation and some visitors who were attracted by her message.

Evangelist Howe also recently was recognized for her work with extraordinary missionary credentials and a commission for special work from the Army of the Living God, religious organization which has headquarters in Nashville, Tennessee.

Early in life Evangelist Howe had the ambition to be a theatrical entertainer. She devoted five years of study in this field in New York City. She appeared in plays and on programs in churches, halls and auditoriums. Several years ago she went to Hollywood where she took acting lessons. It was during this time that she met Clarence Muse and other great in the dramatic art.

In the end, however, the call of the spotlight didn't remain an alluring theme. The real call came while the evangelist was residing in the home of a Baptist minister in Los Angeles, Calif. in 1929.

Minister Howe's methods have been strikingly similar to those of the apostles. She has been in 655 cities and Western Region, 824-134,864.

Trumbull Park Tenants Picket City Hall

CHICAGO—(ANP)—Negro residents of Trumbull Park housing project last week staged a picket of the City Hall and got a promise from Mayor Richard J. Daley that a citizens committee would investigate their grievances.

The delegation, representing 21 of the 28 Negro families in the federally built housing project, decided on the picket in the wake of new outbreaks of violence at Trumbull Park.

Back in 1942 when she was in Norfolk, Evangelist Howe visited business places and talked to the people and prayed for them. She did this type of work there until 1944. While doing similar work in other southern cities, she occasionally returned to Norfolk for evangelistic work.

In another way Evangelist Howe is living and working like the early Christian leaders. She is supporting herself to a great extent by sign painting and making murals for churches. She has been particularly successful in some years by doing Christian decorations and other kind of art work for churches and religious groups.

Evangelist Howe also does special religious murals for churches to help finance her program. She has done paintings for churches in Texas, Brooklyn, New York, Asheville, N. C. and other places. These murals tell a graphic story of the life and teachings of Christ and his disciples.

The difference between Compay of last year's second-place finishers and the one who hit to him to match his entire career of 82 for last season. The post has been played by the New Lincoln Country Golf Course???

Trasky, in the Southern Open will amount to a boom or a bust. Sponsors of the event have kept silent regarding the matter. It is generally believed that the Independent Hotel will be the tournament site.

Unless there is an abatement and immediate to full season of the summer. The summer has been many changes in general policy at the New Lincoln Country Club. The new clubhouse has not been popular. Visitors report a marked lack of cordiality from attendance. I wonder if this lack of fellowship has carried through to the tournament?

U. S. Charges Joe Louis With "Subterfuge" At Tax Hearing

CHICAGO - (INS) - The Federal Government asserted Monday that Joe Louis hired his ex-wife, Marva, as his "manager" in a divorce settlement in 1945.

Government Attorney Thomas J. Donohy buried a charge of "subterfuge" as a hearing on Louis' divorce settlement by discrediting his divorcee's testimony in Chicago.

Louis and his former wife, Mrs. Marva Trotter Brown, 38, were the chief witnesses in a government suit to apply $90,000 held in trust funds for the two children to the back income taxes of the former heavyweight boxer.

Mrs. Spaulding in testimony before Judge Allen (C) Pierce admitted that one day prior to the couple's 1954 divorce they made an agreement under which she was to receive 25 per cent of all Louis' earnings, half of her share going into a trust fund for children, more to her and their only child at that time.

Mrs. Spaulding said she performed all duties and knew nothing about being hired as Joe's "manager." She testified that she followed the Billy Conn fight she got $80,000 of Louis' purse money and the $30,000 trust fund for the girl.

Aaron H. Payne, Attorney representing the bank, explained that for Joe Louis, Jr., now 9, was set up in 1949 for half the remainder and second child.
